LOVE AND TELEGRAPH.

From the shores of Heart's Content
A maiden looked out on the sea;
"Oh! if I were but rich," said she,
As the messages came and went,
"How happy I then might be;
But no use is the cable to me."
To a sigh by the winds she sent
And the winds they carried it free.

But the maiden mused on still,
"It would cost a fortune a line;
Yet, oh! if that fortune was mine,
What a message of love I'd fill—
Just nine little words, 'I am thine,'
And 'art thou, dear Willie, still mine?'
What a comfort would be to Will."
And a tear dropped into the brine.

From a bluff on the English shore,
Lover Will looked out on the main;
At his heart was a restless pain.
That he never had felt before.
Ah! well might he try in vain,
To feel like himself again.
Who had plighted his troth of yore,
And now broken his troth in vain.

"She'll know it sometime," said he,
That I've taken another bride,
For the secret I cannot hide;
But no message she'll get from me.
I'll trust to her maiden pride
And her scorn, whatever betide.
She'll soon cease to think about me,
And he threw a ring into the tide.

Thus waited the maid each day,
But no tidings to her were sent.
Though the messages came and went,
And the ships rode into the bay.
On her cheeks the lilies blent
With the roses that love had lent,
And the maid was no longer gay.
Though dwelling at heart's Content.

The old drama of love and wrong,
The old story of false and true,
Though to her it seemed so new,
And the weary days so long,
Yet the weary may come to woo,
And she may forget 'tis true;
But farewell to first love's faith-song
For another may prove false too.

A Reminiscence of the War.

BY A GAY CAVALIER.

Rogersville is situated in Hawkins county, East Tennessee. It is celebrated for its romantic scenery, impinged as it were between the Cumberland and Chimney top mountains.

In the spring of 1863, Gen. Pegram's command was ordered to this place, preparatory to a raid into Kentucky. Having been absent from my home since the spring of '61, I repaired to the point of rendezvous.

On reaching it, a gallant Captain informed me, there would be a grand ball that night at Todd's high school for the benefit of the command. Immediately arranging our toilet, we bounded off in cavalier style, buoyant with the hope of meeting fair and familiar faces before departing on the expected raid.

"'Twas, here we first met the beautiful and accomplished poetess, SAN SOUZI, of whom we read so much in the 'papers.' Also, Miss L. P., a finished and most beautiful East Tennessean. We could hardly credit the fact of her being a native of a region so wild and rugged, as poor misguided and down-trodden East Tennessee. Governed as she is, by such a fiend as Brownlow, we sympathize with her and pray she may soon have a Godly sovereign.

Thinking our debut perfectly brilliant, we never felt better save once, when we accompanied an officer into a small hamlet to demand a surrender, and taking possession of a well constructed bar, whilst he was arranging the terms, delt out consolation to my wearied comrades.

The command remained but a brief time at Rogersville, before receiving orders.

"'Twas then my heart felt heated and unsatisfied, and the cold chills ran up and down my back like a lizard upon a fence rail with a turkey hen after it; we never expected to agam meet either the belle of Tennessee, or the charming authoress, SAN SOUZI. But for once in my natural life, things took a propitious 'shoot'; we were ordered to Greenville, and on reaching the depot, saw Miss L. P., slightly lifting my English hunting hat by way of salute, we jumped aboard the train and saw her nomore until arriving at the point of destination. Fortunately we stopped at the same house. Here lived one of the best women 'twas my lot to meet while soldiering. She was of middle height, with brunette complexion, large black eyes that illumined a combination of features which made my heart grow fonder of the sex she represented.

At her house, we slightly angled Miss L. P., but like a cautious cavalier looked to see if there were any gaps down for escape. Our interview was short, too sweet to last. On the next day, we 'set out' to a dining, nine miles in the country. We arrived safely at Mr. A.—s, but were there only long enough to interchange compliments and prepare for the repast, when a dirt-begrimmed messenger came in hot haste with a dispatch for my fascinating companion. It read thus:—Come home immediately, your brother lies at the point of death. Your Uncle. "If you have tears, prepare to shed them now." She immediately drifted into paroxysms and whilst writhing in their embrace, the company quickly decided she was too weak to return to Greenville horse-back. 'Twas agreed that I should drive the buggy in which 'here's your mule.' We started—she in tears, the mule in shafts, and myself in a peck of trouble. Being unacquainted with the road, the mule of course went the wrong way, and finally drew up where he had formerly lived 'nary peg' further could he be persuaded to go, till alighting and shouldering a fence rail, I ran against him with the force of a sledge hammer, taking him in the vicinity of the hypogastrium region. Then he moved and carried us in due time to Greenville. (Cur.) At this point my fair and sad companion remarked if she had company she would take the evening train for home.

Like a true soldier, I volunteered my services, with the understanding that she should meet me at the depot—that I could not attend her there, being compelled to see some friend and request him to assume my other duties. Now to be frank, I greatly desired to negotiate a loan with some friend. How liberal it was in me to make such an engagement without the requisite to go upon! A noble comrade was soon found, who parted with a Fifty, payable when I got the 'stuff,' or when our independence was declared. Agreeable to promise, I was promptly on hand. The train was due at 2 o'clock. At one, our gay companion bade us good evening, believing we would be off in an hour, but the train fell from the track, and we were left to while-away the live-long night in a dreary reception room at a Depot. Tired, natures sweet restorer, 'balmy sleep,' had not visited my eyes for three nights, and being a man of ruddy cheeks and alike eyes, my appearance can be easily imagined. However I soon fell asleep and on the early morn, was awakened from my sweetly dreaming, by the touch of the symmetrical finger of Miss L. P., who informed me breakfast was ready and the ears had not yet arrived. Dilating my eyes, I went for some essence of corn, to invigorate me for the day's travel. The cars came precisely at 10 o'clock, we went aboard with tickets for Rogersville junction. At Midway, the freight train was off the track. This prevented the usual connection being made. Upon reaching the junction, my fair charge, was persuaded to take a room and indulge her pretty 'two' eyes in slumber, until a conveyance to Rogersville was procured. After making a detour in the neighborhood, I returned unsuccessful and thoroughly exhausted. Approaching a group of citizens, I presented an historic face, moving the sympathy of a gallant son of 'Cork,' who tendered his services with a hand-car. Having her trunk placed snugly aboard—its broad top covered with my old army blanket, I lied to her room upon lightest toe, least I might scare the angel, that was keeping vigil. Here reposed the most innocent beauty, that ever gladdened my vision. She was an orphan girl, whose parents died 'ere she had learned to audibly lip their names. Her young heart, though loaded with grief, had wandered into dreamland and found solace. Upon touching the glossy raven locks that had entwined themselves about her neck of snow, she lifted her large and beautiful blue eyes to Heaven, languid from loss of sleep and deep-seated trouble from her early infancy. "Have you obtained any conveyance?" she asked. Methinks I can hear the undulating murmur now. It steals upon my ear like the ocean wave upon the beach—kisses the shell and goes back to the deep. "Yes," said I, "the car is ready." Soon we were standing upon the platform. Seeing the hand-car she exclaimed, 'Twill not do to venture upon so frail a craft. "There is a railroad man" said I "who says 'tis perfectly secure, and you need not hesitate to venture."

"Is it safe, sir," she asked of Emerald Islander. "Yes, be-jesus!" was the ready response. Then latching our bark, we passed, meteor-like, athwart the platform, and vigorously working our hands continued to move rapidly. Rogersville was reached on the third day of July, 1863. On the fourth, we took up our line of march for her uncles—which was sixteen miles up the Holston—Ah! well I remember the sultry rays of the sun—that stole through the forest, as we wandered along the banks—it fell in mellowest gleams upon the laughing waves. We reached 'Uncles' at eleven o'clock—her Brother was dead—and 'twas here we first received the news that General Pemberton had surrendered Vicksburg—Our hearts were alike sad—There we separated and met in the wilds of the Old Dominion upon the heels of the Revolution.

Respectfully &c,
VALER.

Ultraism--Radicalism.

In physics the two extremes of all great circles must ever meet, at the same point. In political and religious circles it is pretty much the same. Two ultraisms of opposite and different opinions when thoroughly examined, are often found to differ in scarcely any thing but mere name. Quixotic like they waste their strength, time and talents fighting each others shadow while the real substance is lost sight of by both. Like the worried and dying while they beat the mere surface and spout forth their venom in each other's faces. Like the emissions of the asp and toad their language is all poison, slime and confusion.

They seldom ever attempt to fathom each others principals with that kindness and good feeling which characterizes the good citizen and good neighbor; and if they do, and get to understand them; it is not for the noble purposes of convincing each other of their errors and dealing out charity in that tone which is calculated to produce beneficial results upon their feelings and morals; but right the contrary; nearly always for the purpose of showing their wit and tact in argument; denouncing rather than convincing; of abusing rather than reforming.

To gain a triumph without a victory; a victory without a conquest; a conquest without subjugation; subjugation without obedience; and obedience without a change.

They commence without premises, proceed without rules, overcome by storming, and end in confusion; ignorance, darkness, and enmity.

They most generally begin with an assertion and end with an insult, without either reason or good manners intervening. Without the least concession or compromise.

Whenever one is caught in such company, he always gains a considerable victory by giving up the field of argument unconditionally and retiring immediately.

This is the sum total of ultraism--radicalism.

There is, perhaps, no folly that is more prevalent among mankind; or that has produced a greater quantity of selfishness in the world; or that is more dilatorious to society, prosperity, and human happiness than this; and yet there is none that is more tenaciously adhered to by all classes.

It is this that produces an alienation of feeling—an alienation of sentiment—an alienation of feeling, and finally a desire of separation, which, at this stage must be permitted or a violent collision will ensue.

This is the true practical working of ultraism--radicalism; no matter where it is found to exist—whether in families; in neighbourhoods;—among States; or even in a nation.

When the members of a community; no matter whether great or small; whether religious or political, arrive at such a tone of feeling they must be permitted to depart from each other as Abram and Lott did—secede if you choose and work out there destiny in their own way, or else their peace, prosperity, happiness, morality and liberty, are all at an end, and master and slave will be created and introduced.

When will all men be wise and useful? Whenever all men learn to have charity tempered with justice, honor and good manners.

Can that be so long as they are allowed to carry noses on their faces? Cut them off, the misfortune and deformity will teach them all to have charity.

OSERVER.

A man named Arden Knight was arrested in Winchester, Columbia county, Ohio, a day or two since, upon the charge of having three wives. Four or five years ago he married a lady in Alliance, and shortly after was united to Miss Anna Fife, of Cleveland.—He next went to Illinois and espoused No. 3. He is in jail at Cleveland, where all three of his wives are "waiting for the verdict."

Monthly Fashion Reports.

MARCH.

Winter seems to cling so lovingly to us that spring fashions are scarcely thought of yet, and probably will not be decided upon for some weeks to come.

Short dresses, which have caused so much perturbation in the feminine world, have now become almost indispensable. They grow shorter and shorter; though the upper skirt is short, the petticoat is of a suitable length.

The distinction between street and indoor dresses is becoming more and more widely marked; narrow gored dresses with immensely long trails, and therefore very wide at the bottom, are the style for house wear, and especially for grand toilets, while the dresses for the street are daily becoming shorter.

The short dresses proper are altogether made en suite, and are generally confined to young ladies, upon whom they are pretty, coquettish, and becoming.

Open sleeves are made to wear with the sacques for short dresses almost exclusively, the long, tight sleeves being attached to the dress, and frequently having a puff placed on the top, which, with the narrow skirt, gives a quaint effect.

Belts are made as much as ever, and the length of the waist does not vary from last season.

The newest black lace veils are flushed on the edge with long points, which are trimmed with tassels of jet or straw.

Shawls must never be worn with short dresses; they are not at all in keeping with this style of costume.

Braided morning dresses will be very fashionable during the coming summer, and ladies who wish to display them at the seaside or other resorts will find the leisure of Lent favorable to their elaborate ornamentation.

Older and more matronly women find such a costume awkward, and anything but graceful, and generally prefer more amplitude of drapery, especially as the Benoiton dress-loopers afford them an elegant and decorative means of raising their skirts out of the debris of the streets.

The wide and tilting hoops, which for a time were universal, have now entirely disappeared, or are seen only among the class of domestic servants who fall heir to the cast off garments of their mistresses.

Peplums continue in favor. Sleeves are still of the coat shape, and quite close; some are varied by having full pull at the shoulder formed of alternate stripes of velvet and the dress material.

The bonnets are all quite small. Some are the fanchon shape, turned up in front in the coronet style; others, again, have flat crowns, while the Eve hat is composed of a single leaf, trimmed round with a feather or bead fringe. Others, again, of the Watteau style, no larger than the palm of the hand, and tied under the chin with broad satin strings.

Black bonnets are frequently trimmed with drops and studs of amber. When happily arranged, the effect is very good, but they are only suited for evening and carriage wear. Another fashionable ornament for black bonnets is mother of pearl. Some are studded with stars formed of mother of pearl, and have a fringe of the same on the edge.

The latest novelty, however, in the bonnet line is star-shaped, and has eight points. It is of velvet crape over violet silk, is richly embroidered with straw, and has a straw tassel depending from each point. At the head of the strings are tails of violets mixed with straw. The inside is finished with pulling of violet crepe lisse and fancy ornaments of straw.

A charming little floral centure or girdle has just been introduced. It is composed of bands of ribbon grass encircling the waist, and fastened in front by a tuft of large field daisies, while fancy grasses, reeds, and leaves of various tints depend from the girdle all around the waist.

A very convenient style of hoops skirt is of muslin, with steel run in. It is so arranged that it may be worn with a short walking dress or a trained evening dress, by adding or removing an extra trained piece, which may be buttoned on in a few moments.

At a religious meeting, a lady persevered in standing on a bench, and thus intercepting the view of others, though repeatedly requested to sit down. A reverend old gentleman at last rose, and said, gravely, "I think if the lady knew she had a large hole in each of her stockings, she would not exhibit them in this way." This had the desired effect, she immediately sunk down to her seat. A young minister standing by, blushed to the temples, and said, "O brother, how could you say what was not the fact?" "Not the fact?" replied the old gentleman; "if she had not a large hole in each of her stockings, I should like to know how she gets them on?"

The Vienna journals relate a dramatic incident at a recent masked ball in that city. A young couple, finding their steps constantly dogged by a female figure in a black domino, were about to leave the theater in order to escape from the espionage, when the stranger placed herself before them, and dashed a vial of vitrol in the face of the gentleman. The domino on being arrested and unmasked proved to be a lady belonging to the aristocracy, and the wife of the young man whom she had thus disfigured; she had also just obtained a judicial separation from him. The face and neck of the husband were horribly burnt, and one eye was completely destroyed. The domino had also spilled so much of the liquid on her arm and hand that amputation became necessary.

The "false bosoms" of New York females are said to be made of bird seed. The news says; "by the manner of its use it will deceive the most wary. It is said to be enclosed in small bags adapted to the proper size and shape, attached in some peculiar way to the underlining so that at the motion of the body the bag of bird seed moves so as to resemble very much the living flesh." The deception can only be detected by the feel.

A boy was caught in the act of stealing dried berries in front of a store, the other day, and was locked up in a closet by the grocer. The boy commenced begging most pathetically to be released, and after using all the persuasion that his young imagination could invent, proposed, "Now, if you'll let me out, and send for my daddy, he'll pay you for them, and lick me besides." This appeal was too much for the grocer to stand out against.

The Great Eastern, now receiving a thorough refit, at Liverpool, is appointed to sail for New York, from that port, on the 20th of March. She will leave here again, for Brest, on the 9th of April, and sail between France and the United States during the continuance of the Paris Exhibition.

The Illinois Legislature has passed a law giving the power to fix the punishment of capital crimes—making it death, imprisonment for life, or fourteen years, at their discretion.

The Supreme Court of Alabama has decided that the emancipation proclamation of President Lincoln did not take effect in that State until May 1865.

T. L. JONES,
of Campbell.

After many days of inquiry and consultation, we find that the people of Harrison are pleased with the candidates which have been presented for their suffrages, by the democratic conventions of the State and district; and laying all personal considerations aside, they will with no other motives than those which actuate patriots, and well wishers of their country, give their votes for the furtherance of democratic principles, democratic ideas, democratic candidates.

When great democratic ideas, are opposed with such earnestness as is exhibited by the radicals—when the great constitutional rights secured to us by our fore-fathers—to wit: life, liberty, and property, are so seriously menaced as at present, by those who assert their power by the passage of laws for their destruction, it then behooves every man, to sink his own personal notions for his, and his country's good, and prove by his vote that his actions are governed by his principles, and that his principles are founded on right and justice.

The government of our common country is based upon right and justice, and the ground work of democracy is built upon these two pillars, and the man, who has those ideas well set in his head and heart will work accordingly. A stern determination to adhere to the democratic party and to its principles, and exponents, will lead us to prosperity and happiness. In this world it has always been difficult for men to do right. It oftentimes occurs that ones life-boat should sail against the current as well as against the wind to keep in the right path. Then a spirit of determined sternness, and self denial is necessary. The Christian fully understands this principle—and no discouragement, no dark clouds, no tempestuous storms should turn us back. No threatening menace, or surrounding multitude opposing, should affect the onward strides of a sound democrat. The bright star of Hope is just rising above the eastern horizon, and while a cheerfulness overshadows us at its sight, let us renew our strength with a new and strong resolution, never to give up the ship but to contend for the right, as long as one ray of that Star can be seen.

The triumph of our principles in this State is a fixed fact, for the triumph of the democratic party, if moral suasion and reason only is used, is certain. Let our actions as individuals, and demeanor as a party, be such, that our enemies cannot without detriment to the general weal, send troops and bayonets for our intimidation. Give them no cause for even an excuse for such a move, and the expected military will never come.

The country has been threatened with soldiers, but it is to be hoped they will never appear. If they do come, we fear very much that persecution and oppression will come with them. The steady old democrats of Harrison have withstood many heavy storms, within the last twelve years, and they may be called upon to undergo many more, but be firm to principle. Democrats are not the only people that have been persecuted for the sake of principle, and finally triumphed. Let us hope, and look for the good time coming, when men will be governed by reason not passion.

The Memphis Post says that notwithstanding the ill success of cotton planters last year, the country around that city is alive with preparations for the coming season. In some districts there may be less land under cultivation this year than last, but, on the whole, in West Tennessee, Arkansas, North Mississippi, and North Alabama there will be considerably more planted. The same scarcity of hands and the difficulty in obtaining them is complained of. Numbers are visiting or sending agents to Georgia and North and South Carolina to procure them. Not more than half of the planters will have as many as they wish. The colored people have been so much better treated in Tennessee than any of the surrounding States, that they will hire to Tennesseeans at less wages than to others. Their enfranchisement will now add largely to laboring population of Tennessee at the expense of the adjoining States.

The Radical Legislature of Ohio has just voted down a proposition to strike the word "white" from their State Constitution—thus refusing to allow negroes the privileges that they are in favor of forcing the Southern States to allow them. They are for negro suffrage in the South, but not in the North. The simple reason is this: They think they have the Northern States secure without the aid of negro suffrage; but it is necessary to confer upon them the right of suffrage in the Southern States, in order to secure these States to Radicalism. They care nothing for the negro, only so far as they can use them for partisan purposes.

MILLINERY.—We call the attention of our readers to the spring opening of elegant millinery and straw goods, advertised in this paper, by the old reliable and cheap house of Devon & Co., 83 and 85 Pearl street, Cincinnati. This is one of the oldest establishments in the West, and long experience and wealth enables them to sell goods very low, and keep up an elegant assortment by continual importations.

The mortgage of the Lexington and Louisville Railroad, by which they secure the bond-holders for the money necessary to complete the Cincinnati branch road, has been filed in the Kenton County Clerk's office, and it has attached to it fifteen United States revenue stamps, each of the denomination of $200, or an aggregate of $3,000.

John A. Bingham, one of the Radical Congressmen from Ohio, made a good point, the other day, against Thaddeus Stevens and those of his followers who are intent upon dealing with the ten Southern States as conquered territories. He said that he was not going to yield to the proposition of Mr. Stevens, that one rood of territory, embraced within the lines of ten States, was conquered territory, "that a Government did not conquer territory that owed it allegiance." That's a point that is very difficult to get over or around or through.

Gen. Grant, on good authority, is reported as saying he regarded the re-construction bill as very unwise legislation. All the members of the Cabinet, with one exception, are opposed to the bill.

Jesse D. Bright, formerly a Senator in Congress from Indiana, and now a resident of our State, in reply to a call to become a candidate for Congress, says:—

I could not be induced to take a seat among such men as constitute the already elected majority in the next House of Representatives in Congress.

There were thirty-seven newspapers in this country at the beginning of the revolutionary war. Twenty-three stood by Congress, eight by King George, and the rest were neutral.

Who Are and Who Are not Affected by the Military Reconstruction Bill.

It is a matter of some importance to the people of the South to know who are and who are not affected by the Military Reconstruction Bill, passed by Congress over the veto of the President. The law itself has a double character. It establishes, in the first place, a complete military despotism over the unreconstructed States. In the second place, provision is made for the reconstruction of those States. It is in this latter division that are found the provisions affecting particular classes of individuals, curtailing the rights of some and enlarging those of others. They relate to holding office and voting.

HOLDING OFFICE.

The following persons are forbidden to hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, or under any Provisional State Government, or to be a member of any convention to form a new State Constitution, who took an oath or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States and afterward engaged in the rebellion, or gave aid and comfort to those who did, viz:

1st. Senators and Representatives in Congress, officers of the army or navy, and other United States officials.

2d. Governors of States, members of State Legislatures, and State judicial officers, from judges down to magistrates.

No one is excluded from holding an office who does not belong to one of the above classes.

VOTING.

All male citizens twenty-one years old and upward, of whatever race, color, or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of election, shall be entitled to vote, except the following persons, viz:

1. Such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion.

2. Such as may be disfranchised for crime.

3. Such as (above enumerated) are forbidden to hold office, are also forbidden to vote for members to a Convention to form a Constitution under the provisions of this bill, and also for officers under the Provisional State Governments.

HOLDING OFFICE AND VOTING.

No person is disqualified from holding office by reason of any part he took in the rebellion, either in holding office under the Confederate Government, or in bearing arms, who had not previous to the war held a Federal office, or an executive, legislative, or judicial office in some State.

No person is disqualified from voting by reason of any part he took in the rebellion, either in holding office or in bearing arms, except those who are disqualified from holding office, as above stated, and they are disqualified from voting in two cases only: first, for members of the Constitutional Convention; and, second, for officers under the Provisional State Government.

As no person under twenty-one years of age was allowed to hold any Federal office, or any State executive, legislative or judicial office, and as the war commenced six years ago, no man in the South under twenty-seven years of age can be excluded from holding office or voting, by reason of any part he took in the rebellion.

[From the Shelby Sentinel.]

Rev. Elisha Stratton sold his farm near Eminence, to Judge J. L. Hill. It contained one hundred and six acres, and sold at seventy-five dollars per acre.

J. C. Ireland, of Eminence, bought the best lot of sheep in Shelby county, from W. L. Wadley and J. M. Hackworth. The average weight, one hundred and thirty-seven and a half pounds per head, two hundred and fifty in the lot. He has also bought eighteen head of cattle, averaging one thousand five hundred and twenty-six pounds per head.

There was a large turnpike meeting at Eminence last Saturday, to consider the subject of subscribing stock to the pike to be made from the Smithfield road to Eminence. The meeting was a success, as most of the money was subscribed.

The remains of Wm. Briscoe, of Miss., which had been deposited in the city vault of Louisville for several months past, were brought up on Friday last and interred in the Cemetery at Eminence.

We understand a Deputy U. S. Marshal was in town on last Thursday, for the purpose of summoning certain individuals to appear before the Federal Court, at Louisville, who were supposed to have formed the acquaintance of that famous individual, yeecapt "Judge Lynch.—Danville Advocate.

Why Women Can Not Enter Masonic Lodges.

Frequent complaints are made by ladies in relation to Masonry, and their principal arguments are that their husbands have no business to do any thing that they can not tell their wives—that that which is secret must be wrong—that it is only a mean excuse, and so on. One branch of the subject seems, however, to be capable of legendary explanation, and the Norfolk Journal publishes thereon the following paragraph:

When King Solomon was still a young man he had married his seventh wife. She was a beautiful young Ammonitess, with locks as black as the raven's wing and eyes as bright as the eagle's. It was believed that she was the favored fair one among all the sultanas of the Greek King, for his affections were not divided then as they afterward became. She knew her power, and used it unsparingly. In addition to her other qualities, she was as inquisitive as ever was a woman on this earth.

One evening King Solomon attended lodge on some grand occasion, and staid out somewhat late. When he returned home, he found the fair Ammonitess in the dumps, and pouting just like the dear wives of Masons do sometimes now when their lords stay out too late at the lodge. She upbraided him with neglecting her, insinuated that he hadn't been to the lodge as he pretended, and insisted that in future he should give proof that he went there by having herself initiated, so that she might go there and watch him.

"Daughter of Ammon," replied the King, "thou hast behaved thyself as one of the foolish women, in presuming to question thy lord and master. Thou art not so angry with me as thou pretendest to be; for the true reason of this behavior is thy insatiable curiosity, in which thou excellest Eve herself. Know, then, that I hereby order that neither thou nor any of thy inquisitive sex after thee, ever enter the portals of a Masonic Lodge; but I shall enjoin the Tyler to pierce through with his sword any woman that shall attempt to enter a lodge, ay, even thee Queen of Israel though thou be!" And that ordinance of that wisest of monarchs has continued in force till this day.

Gen. Hood.—Gen. Hood was in our city upon Monday, on his way from his old home in Montgomery County to New Orleans. He was warmly welcomed by those who knew him, some of whom had served under him. We regret that he had to walk upon crutches. There never lived a more dashing soldier, a more gallant leader, a more knightly foe, or kindly honorable gentleman. With true manhood he has lately refused the generous offers of his Texan friends, saying he could earn his living, and I begged that the gifts intended for him might be given to others equally as deserving and more needy.—Obs. & Rep.

An exchange says: "At the battle of the Wilderness a young Mississippian had fallen, and at night, just as they were burying him, there came a letter from her he loved best. One of group around his body, a minister, whose tenderness was womanly, broke the silent fearfulness with which he saw the dead letter; he took it and laid it on the heart of him whose heart was still: 'Bury it with him. He will see it when he wakes.' It was the sublimest sentiment in the funeral service.

There has been a tremendous revival at Crawfordville, in Maine. Since the first of January 355 persons have connected themselves with the various churches, of which, as usual, the Methodists get the largest share, viz: 168, while the Christians (or Campbellites) got 75, New School Presbyterians 86, Old School 19, Baptist 3, and Episcopals 7. The excitement is very great, meetings being held in the four largest churches twice a day, and a general prayer meeting besides. Crowds gather in the streets and on the corners to talk about religion, and even in the saloons it is the subject of conversation.

"What is the reason that men never kiss each other, while ladies waste a world of kisses on feminine faces?" said a foolish gent to a lively girl the other day. "Because the men have something better to kiss, and women haven't," was the reply of the young lady. The gent "saw it" immediately.

A terrible earthquake has taken place at Mytelone, by which hundreds of lives were lost.

WANTED!!
A T. H. office, a BOY, between the ages of 8 and 10 years, to learn the printing business.

Our Representative, Hon. A. H. Ward, has arrived in Cynthiana from Washington.

Mr. Land's new business house, we understand will be finished in a few weeks, and ready for his removal.

Rev. S. S. Deering informs us that the Methodist of Ruddle Mills have had a revival, with some additions.

Last week William and J. Thompson sold 100 acres of land lying on the Lees Lick and Leesburg turnpike, to Wm. Urnston for $50 per acre; and J. A. Thompson another tract of 100 hundred acres for $65 per acre.

The window panes in front of the new store of Cason, Kimbrough & Co. of this place are very large. Two of them measure 5 1/2 feet wide by 11 long. Mr. Cason is now in New York purchasing goods for his house.

Last Monday was court day in Cynthiana. The town was crowded with people. Horses, mules and cattle were offered and sold at high prices. Business is reviving, and we hope to see the spring of '67 a prosperous one to all.

Harrison County, March 14.
The friends of Henry Shawhan desire to know if he will permit his name to go before the people of Harrison County as a candidate for the Legislature, subject to decision of a Convention of the Democratic party of the County. If he will he will receive support from
MANY VOTERS.

The Legislature of Kentucky has adjourned. For the benefit they have been to the people, this year, they might never have met. They have passed an act allowing the K. C. R. R. to charge 25 percent. more on freight than they charged before the war. It is the duty of the people to denounce and condemn their acts.

On the 1st Saturday in April next, an election will be held in this city for Mayor and Councilmen. The people should find men for the Council, who favor improvements, and pavements, especially, men who will encourage (not discourage) emigration to our city. A meeting of the citizens must be held and a liberal ticket nominated.

J. Mac, Kimbrough, our particular friend who has left his farm at Broadwell, is now located in Cynthiana. His family have taken the residence formerly occupied by our old friend Leon Cason. Friends, then, are welcome to the "city of maidens," and may you be as well pleased with our town as we are now, and ever have been pleased, to have you with us.

The young lady who sent us the green neck tie, is hereby informed that we are well pleased with it, and like all other good Fashions we are now "wearing the green." She will accept our thanks with the following: "I would that that might ever be."

As beautiful as now;
That time might ever beam as free,
Thy yet unwrinkled brow."

Licking River has swollen out of its banks again, and presents the appearance of a great lake. The heavy rains and that great fall of snow would raise most any river, not larger than South Licking. A small amount of warm and dry weather would greatly benefit old mother earth and its inhabitants. We are opposed to making any suggestions with reference to the weather, but we favor a change of some kind.

Prof. Morey, the Prestidigitator and great American wizard, will visit and exhibit in Cynthiana to-night, to-morrow, and Saturday night, at the Rankin House Hall. He is celebrated in his profession, and from the representations made of him by the papers, elsewhere, we should judge that he was able to make an extraordinary show of his kind. Those who attend are liable to draw a prize as he offers several.

John Craddock, of the "True Kentuckian," is favorably spoken of as a candidate for the Legislature of Bourbon County. If the good people of Bourbon could afford to be represented by an editor, let them say so, and we will go for John outright, and we will stump the county for his benefit, provided, that he furnishes a good horse and buggy, and a good guide to ride on. We would like to hear "Uncle John," through his paper, on the resolutions of '68.

The town authorities of this place expect to levy a tax to pay the expenses of a town marshal, and other nonsense. We give notice now to said town authorities that unless they abate several nuisances, in the way of mud holes, &c., on Pleasant street, and other places in this city, that can be seen and felt, that the collection of said tax will be resisted by law. Certain privileges to certain people will not be tolerated. In soldier parlance, "you must shoot or give up your gun." The town must be paved or the charter be returned.

Last Monday Mr. Wm. McMillan, of Broadwell, came to town, attending court, and after his arrival, gave his horse and buggy to a black boy with orders that he should go to the river, wash the horse and wash the buggy. The black boy obeyed, but by some unfortunate accident drove to far into the river, which was high and rising, and he was not aware of his mistake, until he found his horse was swimming, and his buggy floating, when he plunged into the river and saved himself by swimming to shore. The horse kicked himself free and came out safely, but the buggy is said to be lodged down the river among the drift wood.

Dr. J. Ed. Ray, of Paris, we regret to learn has concluded to abandon his old home and locate in the great north-western city, Chicago. We have known the doctor from boyhood, and can say with truth that few have a better record. As a man he is firm, quiet and gentlemanly, with enough of the love of humanity in his composition to make him a good Christian without making any pretensions to that way. In his profession he has few superiors. His high attainments give him confidence, and confidence gives him success as a practitioner and success over sickness and disease. The good such men can and may do is estimable, and anything we might say of Dr. Ray could not raise him any higher in the estimation of his friends. We hope he may find his new home congenial and that he may be successful in his profession.

At a meeting of the Stockholders of the Harrison County Agricultural and Mechanical Association, held in Cynthiana, Monday, March 11, 1867, Dr. Lewis Perin was called to the chair and J. H. Dills appointed Secretary. The late President David Dills, requested his friends not to use his name again either for President or Director, as he had served the society continually since its organization and thought the duties now devolved by right on younger men. Gen. L. Desha was made President by acclamation, and in a few brief and pointed remarks returned his thanks for the compliment, while respectfully accepted his position knowing the arduous duties by four years experience in organizing and building up the association he knew it was no empty honor, but required labor and sacrifice of personal comfort to properly fill it, and he expressed the hope that the meeting would select for directors men who would share the labors of the society. The chair appointed J. McKee and D. Dills, to assist the Secretary in receiving and counting the ballots for Directors, which resulted in the choice of G. R. Sharp, J. H. Gray, A. Kellar, Wm. Winston, J. H. Dills, A. McKee, A. Day, T. V. Ashbrook and J. Howard. The report of the Treasurer of the society being called for developed the fact that the indebtedness amounts to the sum of $978. One year ago the sum of $500 or thereabouts was in the treasury, which shows that about $1,478 was expended by the late board of Directors over the amount cleared at the exhibition of 1866.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

PUBLIC SALE OF
FARMING UTENSILS, &c.

HAVING DETERMINED TO QUIT farming for the present, I will offer at public sale on THURSDAY, March 21, 1867, the farm on which I now reside, known as the "Sunset Farm," containing about 212 acres of land, situated near Huddell's Mills, Bourbon County, immediately on the turnpike leading from Millersburg to Cynthiana, is well watered, finely timbered, and in a high state of cultivation. The improvements are thorough and complete, consisting of a large and very substantial FRAME DWELLING, in good repair, with every outbuilding that taste and convenience would suggest. A good orchard, dairy, ice house, wood house, cistern and many other conveniences not to be found at every farm house. For farming purposes this is one of the best locations to be found in the State of Kentucky. Grain always commands the highest price, there being some five or six different varieties immediately in the neighborhood; in addition to this you have the convenience of mills, blacksmith shops, schools, churches, &c., almost at your door, these are some of the attractions, and to be further informed on the subject, persons desirous of purchasing will please call and examine for themselves.

My stock consists in part of some milch cows, 1 yoke of oxen, 3 or 4 nice fat heifers, a few yearlings, and two year old steers, also a nice lot of shoats, some good brood sows, 4 or 5 head of good horses and brood mares, 1 cow, 1 four year wagon and gear, a No. 1 buggy and harness, almost entirely new; about 1,500 pounds of bacon, 600 pounds of lard; about 100 barrels of nice white corn in the crib, and some 1,200 dozen of oats in the barn; some nice parlor, household and kitchen furniture, including a very superior cook stove, the "home comfort," used only a short time and cost $120, together with many other articles too tedious to mention.

TERMS OF SALE—For all sums of $10 and under (except the land) cash in hand, over that amount a credit till the 1st of September next, purchasers to give a good negotiable note payable in bank. The land will be sold in three equal payments, one third in hand, or within 30 days, the balance in one and two years thereafter. Possession given immediately. N. H. TODD, S. M. Hibler, Auctioneers. ## ASTROLOGY.

THE WORLD ASTONISHED.

At the wonderful revelations made by the great Astrologist, Madame H. A. Perrigo.
She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She teaches to happiness those who, from doubtful prospects, mistakes, crosses in love, loss of relatives and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together these long separated friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and character of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers reveals the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the nebulae that overcome or predominate in the configuration—in the aspects and position of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation free, with likeness and all desired information. $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair. Address, Madame H. A. Perrigo, P. O. drawer 293, Buffalo, N. Y.

KNOW THY DESTINY.

Madame E. F. Thompson, the great English Astrologist, clairvoyant and psychometrist, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thompson possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very feature of the person you are to marry and by an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychometre, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can attest. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, exact date and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive a picture and desired information by return mail. ## REPARATOR CAPILLI.

Throw away false frizzes, switches and wig. Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig. Come aged, come youthful, ugly and fair. And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.
Reparator Capilli, for restoring the hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It is certainly difficult, as nine-tenths of the different preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your druggists does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it post-paid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned to you on application, provided entire satisfaction is not given. Address, W. L. Clark & Co., Chemists, No. 3 West Fayette street, Syracuse, N. Y.

A young lady returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the city, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft, ruddy complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared that of eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used Reparator Capilli, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any lady's toilet. By its use any lady or gentleman can improve their personal appearance in an improved fold. It is simple in its combinations, as it is herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface nature intended. It should be clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Price $1, sent by mail or express, on receipt of an order by W. L. Clark & Co., Chemists, No. 3 West Fayette street, Syracuse, N. Y. The only American agents for the sale of the same.

CRISPER COMA.

Old hair was beautiful and fair. With starry eyes, and radiant hair. Whose curling tendrils soft entwined. Enchained the very heart and mind.
Crisper Coma, for curling the hair of either sex into wavy and glossy ringlets or heavy massive curls.
By using this article Ladies and Gentlemen can beautify themselves a thousand fold. It is the only article in the world that will curl straight hair, and at the same time give it a beautiful, glossy appearance. The Crisper Coma not only curls the hair, but invigorates, beautifies and cleanses it; is highly and delightfully perfumed, and is the most complete article of the kind ever offered to the American public. The Crisper Coma will be sent to any address, sealed and post-paid for $1. Address all orders to W. L. Clark & Co., Chemists, No. 3 West Fayette street, Syracuse, N. Y.

WONDERFUL BUT TRUE.

Madame Remington, the world renowned astrologist and somnambulist clairvoyant, while in a clairvoyant state, delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychometre, guarantees to produce a perfect and life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, with date of marriage, occupation, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as testimonials without number can attest. By stating place of birth, age, disposition, color of eyes and hair, and enclosing fifty cents, stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture by return mail, together with desired information. Address in confidence, Madame Gertrude Remington, P. O. box 267, West Troy, N. Y.

Blue Grass Farm FOR SALE.

THE Farm on which I now reside is for sale. It is situated four miles south of Cynthiana, half a mile from Lairs Station on the Kentucky C. R. Road, at which place there is a post office, express office, depot, saw mill and two excellent grist mills that manufacture the best quality of flour and meal. It is within 3 hours ride of Cincinnati and 1 1/2 of Lexington. It contains about 175 Acres, one hundred acres well timbered, nicely cleared up and set in blue grass. The remainder cleared and in the highest state of cultivation. The fencing all in good order. The improvements consist of a comfortable dwelling, partly frame and partly log, weatherboarded and plastered and painted, containing six rooms, cook-house and all necessary out buildings including two large stables (with lots for feed) large enough to house and feed 175 horses at a time which can be done without going out doors as there is large wide feed room extending the whole length of the stables in which there is a cutting box run by horse power, with capacity and strength enough to cut a large quantity of provender in a short time. There is also a young orchard of select fruit of various kinds now bearing. The farm is supplied with abundance of pure water for all purposes as there is upon it a number of never failing springs (some of them near the dwelling) and South Licking which runs along one side of it. Any one wishing to purchase such a farm would do well to call and examine for himself as the place will be sold for a reasonable price, the payments made easy and if desired a part of the money can be run a considerable length of time at moderate interest.
I also desire to sell 400 acres of Land which lies in Lewis county Missouri. Said land is situated about 12 miles from Palmyra on the road leading from there to Monticello and about 16 miles from the Mississippi river, about one half of it timbered land, the timber excellent, the balance prairie of good quality, a fine rolling & dry—its a good neighborhood, it is surrounded by one settlers and finely improved farms. There is a large handsome brick church & school house in sight of the land. Also, a small village & post office near by. Price reasonable, payments easy & made to suit the ability & convenience of purchasers. For further particulars call on
